

Paola Spagnoli graduated in Psychology of Work and Organizations (v.o.), Faculty of Psychology, La Sapienza University of Rome and, afterwards, received her Ph.D. in Occupational Psychology and Human Resources, XIX cycle, at L.U.M.S.A. (Free Santissima Maria Assunta University) of Rome. From 2008 to 2010 she was Post-Doc Researcher at CIS (research and social intervention center) ISCTE-IUL, University of Lisbon. Since 2010 she is Full-time Researcher and Adjunct Professor at the Department of Psychology, University of Campania "Luigi Vanvitelli", disciplinary sector M-PSI/06. At the University Vanvitelli she teaches Psychology of Work and Organizations, Psychology of Work, and carries out a laboratory of Organizational Behavior. Her main research interests are: wellbeing at work at individual, group and organizational level; evaluation and prevention of work-related psychosocial risks; organizational socialization and individual proactivity; entrepreneurship; tools for assessing entrepreneurial potential; the strong investment in work. From 2007 to 2016 she was lecturer of Occupational Psychology and Organizations, Occupational Psychology and Educational Psychology at the "Carlo Bo" University of Urbino. She has also been a lecturer and coordinator of advanced courses at the University of Urbino "Carlo Bo" on the themes of the evaluation of human resources and on the assessment and prevention of psychosocial risks in the workplace. Since 2015 she has been delegated to the Orientation for the Department of Psychology of the "Vanvitelli" University and since 2018 she has been delegated to the Third Mission for the same department. She is a member of the PhD in "Sciences of Mind" active at the dip. of Psychology. She has published in national journals, such as Giornale di Psicologia, Psicologia Sociale and Bollettino di Psicologia Applicata, and international, as Journal of Business Research, Social Indicator Research, Career Development International, International Journal of Human Resource Management, Management Research: the Journal of the Iberoamerican Academy of Management, etc. Contact e-mail: paola.spagnoli@unicampania.it