

Full Professor of General and Applied Hygiene (MED/42) at the Department of Environmental, Biological and Pharmaceutical Sciences and Technologies, University of Campania "L. Vanvitelli", specialist in Food Science. Teacher of Applied Hygiene courses for the master's degree course in Biology and of Food Hygiene and Nutrition for the master's degree course in Food Science and Human Nutrition. Teacher of Hygiene and Environmental Toxicology at the School of Specialization in Hygiene and Preventive Medicine for the training of Public Health Doctors. President of the University Discipline Commission towards students. Member of the Student Activities Committee responsible for examining and evaluating funding requests for students' cultural, sporting and recreational initiatives. ANVUR disciplinary expert, member of the Panel (PEV) and Evaluation Expert Commissions (CEV). She coordinates the research group involved in the study of environmental ecogenotoxicology with interest that also includes food and possible risks to human health due to contamination.

From 2015 to 2021 President of the aggregate Council of the Degree Courses in Biological Sciences (Class L-13) and Biology (Class LM-6) of the DiSTABiF. Among her previous positions, Member of the Board of Directors for two four-year periods of the former Second University of Naples, Member of the Teaching Quality Section of the University Quality Control Board, Member of the Scientific Commission of the University Library System, Member of the University Commission for Activities of Orientation.