

PROF. ANIELLO RUSSO

EDUCATION

1995: PhD in Biochemistry, University Federico II of Naples.

1988: Dottore in Scienze Biologiche (equivalent to a Master of Science degree in Biology).

MAIN APPOINTMENTS

2023-present: Director of academic training program for high school teachers of Chemistry and Biological Sciences (A050) at the University of Campania "Luigi Vanvitelli".

2019-present: Full Professor of Molecular Biology at the University of Campania "Luigi Vanvitelli".

2012-present: Associate Editor of MicroRNA journal - Bentham Science Publishers

2009-2015: President of the Bachelor and Master of Science programs in Biology, Second University of Naples.

2000-2019: Associate Professor of Molecular Biology in the Faculty of Sciences of the Second University of Naples, Italy.

1997-2000: Ricercatore Universitario (equivalent to assistant professor) of Biochemistry in the same University as above.

1995-1997: Instructor in the Center for Biochemical and Biophysical Sciences and Medicine, Harvard Medical School, Boston, MA, U.S.A.

1993-1995: Research Fellow in the same center as above.

1989 (July-August) and 1990 (July-August): Visiting Scientist in the Marine Biological Laboratory, Woods Hole, MA, U.S.A.